Mary, his wife, were burned together at the stake in Westminster, England, for the same reasons during these persecutions.

In the year 1635, another "William Hinshawe" aged 21 years, sailed from London, England, in the ship "George" along with a number of other emigrants who were "to be transported to Virginia." (See Hotten's "List of Emigrants to America, 1607-1700.")

We do not have the date of the emigration of some of our ancestors from England, but suppose most of them left that country during the first decade of the 17th century. Some of them came, (or rather were sent) directly to America in the year 1656, settling in Massachusetts and later in Pennsylvania, while others went to Scotland and Ireland, whence certain of their descendants also emigrated to America in the years 1741, 1765 and 1768. These later emigrants all settled finally in North Carolina, and among them were the ancestors of the third pioneer Hinshaws, George, Sr., Jacob (1 W, 2 T), and Simon.

NOTE: There being so many individuals in these families bearing the same name, I have designated them as follows: In order to distinguish them one from another, viz: those in the branch of William Hinshaw (1 W.) by the letter "W," those in the branch of Thomas Hinshaw (1 T.) by the letter "T," and those in the branch of Jesse Hinshaw, Sr. (1 J.) by the letter "J," etc., wherever instances of this kind occur, prefixing a number to the letter in each case, to determine the generation. Other letters are used in the case of other branches. It will be observed that by the intermarriages of William Hinshaw (1 W.) with Mary Hinshaw, of William Hinshaw (2 W.) with Mary Hinshaw, and of Jesse Hinshaw (2 J.) with Elizabeth Hinshaw, certain divisions of the branches to which they belonged were united.

MARY CLARK, HINSHAW.

WILLIAM HINSHAW (1W)

WILLIAM HINSHAW (1 W.), son of——— and ———— (———) Hinshaw was born in County Tyrone, Ireland (1) about the year 1740. He married first Sarah——— in Ireland. Their sons, John Hinshaw (1 W.), Ezra Hinshaw (1 W.), and Thomas Hinshaw (1 W.), were born in Ireland. They were Quakers and members of the Friends Meeting at Grange, near Charlemont, in County Tyrone, Ireland. It is supposed that John Hinshaw (1 W.) came or was sent to North Carolina about the year 1765. The census of North Carolina for 1790 shows a John Hinshaw, head of a family, as residing in Surry County, that state, at that time, who may have been him.

William Hinshaw (1 W.), his first wife, Sarah, and their sons, Ezra and Thomas, emigrated from Ireland to America in the year 1768 along with Jesse Hinshaw, Sr., and his family, Absalom Hinshaw, Sr., and his family, and a Miss Alice Hinshaw. They all settled near Core Creek, Orange County, North Carolina, with the exception of one person, Sarah, first wife of William Hinshaw (1 W.) who died during the voyage and was buried at sea.

After settling in North Carolina, William Hinshaw (1 W.) married secondly, Mary Hinshaw, daughter of Jacob (1 T.) and Rebecca (Mackie) Hinshaw.

Eleven children of whom we know, were born to this union, viz: William Hinshaw (2 W., 2 T.), born about the year 1774; George Hinshaw, Sr., born Oct. 1, 1774; Benjamin Hinshaw, (1 W., 3 T.), born about the year 1774; Samuel Hinshaw, born about the year 1780, (died in Indiana); Jesse Hinshaw, (1 W., 1 T.), born about the year 1782, (died in Texas); Jacob Hinshaw (1 W., 2 T.), born Jan. 5, 1784; Sarah (Hinshaw) Hammond; Mary (Hinshaw) Hadley; Rebecca (Hinshaw) Hadley, and Elizabeth Hinshaw. All of these children were born in North Carolina, and the daughters, Mary and Rebecca, were twins. The dates of the deaths of William Hinshaw (1 W.) and Mary (Hinshaw) Hinshaw, his wife, are not known to me, but the former made a will in the year 1818, and his wife also left a will which was recorded at Asheville, North Carolina, in the year 1822.

THOMAS HINSHAW (1 W.)

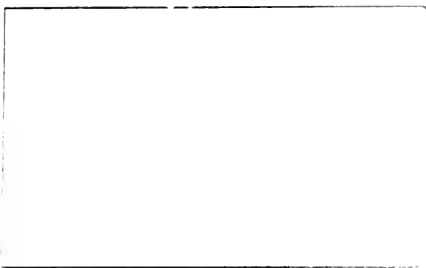

THOMAS HINSHAW (1 W.), son of William (1 W.) and Sarah (——) was, it is supposed, born in County Tyrone, Ireland, about the year 1760. He was brought to America with his father, William Hinshaw (1 W.), his brother, Ezra Hinshaw (1 W.) and other emigrants of the same family name as herein given, all of whom settled at Cape Creek, North Carolina, in the year 1768. His mother Sarah (——) Hinshaw, died during the voyage and was buried at sea.

Thomas Hinshaw (1 W.) married Rebecca Marshall in North Carolina, about the year 1780.

Their children, all born in North Carolina, were as follows: John Hinshaw, (2 W.); Ezra Hinshaw, (2 W.); Simon Hinshaw, (born June 14, 1785, died in McLean County, Illinois, July 14, 1852); Hannah Hinshaw, Aaron Hinshaw, Amy Hinshaw, Enoch Hinshaw, Ruth Hinshaw, Rebecca Hinshaw, and Thomas Hinshaw (2 W.).

SIMON HINSHAW.

SIMON HINSHAW, farmer, son of Thomas (1 W.) and Rebecca (Marshall) Hinshaw, was born in Randolph County, North Carolina, June 14, 1785. He married Rebecca Johnson, daughter of Charles and Sarah Johnson in North Carolina in the year 1807. She was born also in North Carolina, Nov. 25, 1784. Their children were all born in North Carolina (except one, the youngest), as follows: Zeno Hinshaw (No. 1), born 27th, 8th month, 1808; John Hinshaw, born 1st, 4th month, 1810, (died March 17th, 1834); Charles Hinshaw, born 22nd, 3rd month, 1811, (died Jan. 11, 1849); Thomas Hinshaw (3 W.), born 14th, 2nd month, 1816, (died July 29, 1854); Martha (the youngest), born 22nd, 10th month, 1818, (died Oct. 4, 1833); John (3 W.) Hinshaw) Hollingsworth, born 20th, 5th month, 1821; Thomas Hinshaw, born 22nd, 9th month, 1821; John (4 W.) Hinshaw, born 23rd, 6th month, 1828; and Nathan Hinshaw, (4 W.), born 15th, 3rd month, 1831.

Simon Hinshaw came to Illinois with his family and settled at Stouts Grove (McLean County), Sept. 30, 1833. On the 18th of October, 1834, he purchased of Nicholas A. Ware for a consideration of \$137.50, a tract of land described as the E. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. E. $\frac{1}{4}$ Sec. 29, T. 24 N., R. 1 W., 3rd P. M., containing eighty acres. Later he purchased a number of other tracts in the same vicinity. He relied upon the same form all the remainder of his life. He was one of the pioneer farmers of McLean County, Illinois, and his experiences as such were common to all the early settlers of this locality.

Simon Hinshaw died July 14, 1852. Rebecca (Hobson) Hinshaw, his wife, died Oct. 12, 1855. Their remains are buried in the Hinshaw Cemetery, Danvers Township, McLean County, Illinois.

A BIOGRAPHY OF JOHN HINSHAW (3 W.)

(Written by His Son, Thomas E. Hinshaw.)

JOHN HINSHAW (3 W.), son of Simon and Rebecca (McLean) Hinshaw, was born in Randolph County, North Carolina,

June 23, 1828. His parents moved to McLean County, Illinois, in the fall of the year 1830, settling in Scott's Grove, about 14 miles west of Bloomington. It was here that John Hinshaw was reared. The little schooling he received was secured in a log school-house provided with "puncheon" benches for seats. His parents were devout Quakers, who trained their children to be scrupulously honest and ever mindful of the rights of others, and although their son John was never a member of any religious organization, he was always very steadfast in these teachings of the Quakers. He was, for the most part, a silent thinker, yet able if occasion required, to support his opinions with strong argument. Like many others of his generation, he was strongly opposed to fictitious literature. The Bible was the Book he read, and his copy of its concordance was well thumb-marked. He was neither a borrower nor a lender to any great extent. What surplus money he acquired was usually expended in improvements on his farm, or used in the purchase of more live stock. In 1867, he moved to a farm of 160 acres on the prairie in Cropsey Township, in the northeastern part of McLean County, Illinois. This quarter section of land cost him but five dollars per acre, and he lived to see the same land yield him a cash rental of the same amount per acre. Failing eyesight during the last twenty years of his life prevented him from pursuing the active farm work with which he was occupied in his earlier years. He was practically blind during the last three or four years of his life. In politics he was a Republican, and he filled various offices of trust in the township where he resided. He was a Justice of the Peace at a time when that office was called upon to try many minor cases that are now taken to the county courts. In disposition he was slow to anger and careful in judgment. He was not given to deception in any form, not even for the purpose of joking, therefore his statements were always accepted as the truth. He died Feb. 7, 1902, the last survivor of the family of Simon Hinshaw.

JACOB HINSHAW (1 T.) made a will in the year 1796, and in it he names his wife, Rebecca. He also makes his son-in-law, William Hinshaw (1 W.), and his daughter, Jane Hinshaw, his executors. He names his children in this will as follows: William Hinshaw (1 T.), Ann McMillan, Thomas Hinshaw (2 T.), Joseph Hinshaw, Benjamin Hinshaw (1 T.), Mary Hinshaw, Jacob Hinshaw, Jr. (2 T.), Rebecca Cox, Elizabeth Hinshaw, and Jane Hinshaw.

WILLIAM HINSHAW (1 W.) made a will in the year 1813, and in it he names his children as follows: Mary Hinshaw (1 W.), William Hinshaw (2 W. 2 T.), Samuel Hinshaw, Jesse Hinshaw (1 W. 3 T.), George Hinshaw, Sr., Benjamin Hinshaw (1 W. 2 T.), Jacob Hinshaw (1 W. 2 T.), Sarah Hammond, Mary Hadley, and Rebecca Hadley. The names of his children Thomas (1 W.) and Elizabeth are not mentioned.

MARY HENSHAW, wife of William Hinshaw (1 W.), made a will recorded at Asheboro, N. C., in the year 1822. In it she names the following children, viz: Jacob Hinshaw (1 W. 2 T.), Samuel Hinshaw, Mary Hadley, Rebecca Hadley, Jesse Hinshaw (1 W. 3 T.), George Hinshaw, Sr., and Benjamin Hinshaw (1 W. 2 T.). The names of William Hinshaw (2 W. 2 T.), Sarah Hammond and Elizabeth Hinshaw, are not mentioned.

In America, the Hinshaws were mostly farmers, but many of them were mechanics and school teachers. They were among the first to establish stores and factories in some localities, and in later years many of them became ministers and professional men.

In religion practically all of the earliest members of the Hinshaw families who settled in America and their immediate descendants were devout adherents of the doctrine of the Bible, or Quaker church.

GEORGE HINSHAW, SR.

GEORGE HINSHAW, SEXTON, pioneer farmer of McLean County, Ill., is, son of WILLIAM (1 W.) and MARY (1 W.) Hinshaw.

shaw, was born in Randolph County, North Carolina, Oct. 1, 1776. He married first Elizabeth Worthington in North Carolina, in the year 1805. She was born July 12, 1777. One child, a daughter, Malinda Hinshaw (Mrs. William Russell Robinson, afterwards Mrs. George Bloom, Sr.), was born of this marriage, Jan. 30, 1807. George Hinshaw, Sr., was a maker of gunpowder while he lived in North Carolina, and his first wife was killed in an accidental explosion while assisting her husband in this work. Later, with his little daughter, Malinda, Mr. Hinshaw moved to Overton County, Tennessee, where he married secondly, Susannah Johnson. She was born in Warren County, Tennessee, Nov. 12, 1774. Seven children were born of this marriage, six of whom lived to maturity. They were as follows: Cyrus (d. W.), born 1811, (died 1828); William (d. W. 6 T.), born 1814, died 1836; Polly Ann, (Mrs. James Benson); Nancy, (Mrs. William T. T. Benson); Cynthia, (Mrs. Jared D. Franklin); Jehu Hinshaw and George Hinshaw, Jr.

In the year 1826, Mr. Hinshaw and Stephen Wells, Sr., came to Illinois in a small two-horse wagon and entered some land along the Kankakee River, near Joliet, Illinois, intending to settle there. They then returned to Tennessee for their families, and early in the spring of the year 1827, Mr. Hinshaw, his brother, Jacob, Stephen Wells, Sr., and William McCord started for Illinois. The men rode on horseback and brought their families and personal effects in covered wagons drawn by oxen. There were no railroads in those days. They had a very pleasant journey, however, until they reached the Ohio River, then their troubles began. The spring rains set in and the streams were in a high stage. These they crossed on rafts, some of which were constructed. It was necessary for them to unload and reload their goods at every such crossing. They could not get their oxen and oxen swim the streams with the wagons.

They had to stop awhile in Indiana on account of the roads and high rivers. They crossed the Sangamon River at Newcom's ford, near Urbana, on a raft, and remained there one week.

When they came to Cheney's Grove (in the present day, of McLean County), they had great difficulty in crossing the stream at that place, and so camped there a while. Then a great wind storm came up and nearly blew them away, teams, wagons and all. When they finally arrived in what is now McLean County, Illinois, July 31, 1827, the country was so wet that it was impossible to go much farther. Moreover, some trouble had just occurred between the whites at Galena, Ill., and the Winnebago Indians, and the settlers feared an Indian war in the north part of this state. For these reasons the party decided not to go on to the Kankakee. Mr. Hinshaw then bought a "claim" of twenty acres of timber land with a one-room log cabin upon it. This tract is situated in the S. W. $\frac{1}{4}$ of Sec. 17, T. 23 N., R. 2 E. 3d P. M. and forms the north end of the farm now owned by Mr. William Anthony. For this claim, Mr. Hinshaw gave a wagon and a yoke of oxen, worth altogether about fifty dollars. The same land is now worth upwards of two hundred and fifty dollars per acre at a conservative valuation.

Mr. Hinshaw occupied the log cabin on his "claim" for a few years until he could build a larger and better home, when he rented the cabin to James T. Miller (maternal grandfather of the editor of this volume), who came out with his family from Virginia in the year 1834, and who occupied it in turn about one year until he purchased a farm and built a house of his own. This cabin stood near the Springfield road, a few rods south of the present site of the Hinshaw school house.

It appears from the McLean County Deed Records General Index Book No. 1, that George Hinshaw, Sen., entered the W. $\frac{1}{4}$ of Sec. 17, T. 23 N., R. 2 E. 3d P. M. (320 acres), Feb. 15, 1830, and the E. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. E. $\frac{1}{4}$ of Sec. 17, T. 23 N., R. 2 E. 3d P. M. (80 acres), April 11, 1831. For all of this land Mr. Hinshaw paid the regular government price of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre. He later purchased a number of other tracts, among them being the N. E. $\frac{1}{4}$ S. W. $\frac{1}{4}$ of Sec. 12, T. 23 N., R. 2 E. 3d P. M. (40 acres) purchased of William McKisson on July 22d, 1847, for one hundred and fifty dollars. (Deed Records, 1847) and another tract of 76 acres in Sec. 19, T. 23, N. R. 2 E. 3rd P. M. purchased of Peter Withers, Jan. 1, 1818, for three hundred dollars, (book M. page 98.). Most of the land was located in what was known to the early settlers in McLean County as "Keg Grove" sometimes called Hinshaw's Grove," and was covered originally with a fine growth of native timber.

George Hinshaw, Sr. and his family endured all the hardships that were common to the pioneers of Illinois.

During the first years he spent in this state, Mr. Hinshaw ground all the corn meal used by his family with a wooden mortar and pestle. He often dressed deer skins and made clothing out of them for himself and his sons, and his wife and daughters spun thread and yarn and wove cloth from which their clothing was made.

Mr. Hinshaw marketed his cattle and hogs in Chicago, Ill., driving them overland as did the other pioneer farmers of Central Illinois in the days before railroads were built.

George Hinshaw, Sr., was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives, Tenth General Assembly, from McLean County, on the Democratic ticket in the year 1836. He served one term as a member of that body. Its regular session convened at Vandalia, (then the state capital), Dec. 5, 1836, and adjourned March 6, 1837. It convened again in special session July 10, 1837, and adjourned July 22 of the same year. (See "Blue Book of Illinois," Vol. 2, page 242).

It was during this special session that the original "Internal Improvement" bill was passed. Mr. Hinshaw was strongly opposed to this measure and asked permission to sign his name in red ink in protest against it in order that the people might better know how he had voted.

The subsequent unfortunate failure of the "Internal Improvement" scheme proved the wisdom of his action. (See Session Laws of Illinois, 1837, also Hinds' History of Illinois).

When Mr. Hinshaw attended these sessions of the legislature it is said he made the trip on foot. On the 27th of December, 1840, Mr. Hinshaw died, the funeral being supplied by the No. 84 school horse (Vol. No. 7, page 116).

ANNALS OF THE AMERICAN GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY

CONTENTS: ANNALS OF THE AMERICAN GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY

He came to Illinois with his parents in the year 1827. He grew to manhood through all the hardships and pleasures of pioneer life. He married first, Cynthia Ann Hinshaw's Beeler, daughter of William and Mary (Hall) Beeler, to McLean County, Illinois, Oct. 21, 1839. She was born in Fayette County, Kentucky, in the year 1824. On the 19th day of June, 1840, Mr. Hinshaw purchased 10 acres of land of his parents for the sum of eight hundred dollars. (See McLean County, Illinois, Deed Records, Volume 17, Page 372). When M. Hinshaw bought this land it was a part of McLean County, but when the county of Woodford was organized in the year 1841, his farm became a part of the latter, the south line of his land forming part of the boundary between the two counties.

Mr. Hinshaw settled upon this farm, which was located upon the prairie near the Mackinaw River, about twelve miles north of the city of Bloomington, Ill. The families of his sisters, Mrs. Nancy Benson, Mrs. Polly Ann Benson, and Mrs. Cynthia Franklin were all settled near him. He learned the carpenters trade before his marriage. He built a log house of logs taken from his own timber, near by, and improved forty acres of his land, fencing it with rails cut and split by himself.

He broke his ground the first two years with an ox team. He made all the first household furniture which he owned, and was still using some of it when the writer, his second son, was married. He and his brother-in-law, Mr. J. D. Franklin, owned a water saw-mill on Six Mile Creek, near their homes.

They cut and hauled the logs and sawed their own lumber for the houses which they built on their farms a few years later.

Mr. Hinshaw farmed and improved his land by farming contracts.

From a point one mile south of his house to within ten miles of Bloomington, was an unbroken stretch of prairie, and it remained so until the year 1850. By 1850 all of this land was taken up and farms made out of it.

Before this great tract of prairie was settled upon, Mr.

Hinshaw and his neighbors hunted wolves over it on horseback. They would run the wolves down, then jump off their horses, seize the wolves by the hind legs, swing them over the head and strike their bodies upon the ground until they were killed.

Mr. Hinshaw became an expert in killing wolves in this way. He was never bitten by one of them. His grasp was so sure and his movements so swift that the wolf run down never escaped him.

Mr. Hinshaw was a man of strictly temperate habits. He stood for truth, honesty and fair dealing with all his fellow-men. He became a minister of the Christian church, and was an earnest student of the Bible.

He was married three times. Five of his children by his first wife are now living, viz: Adolphus Hinshaw, of Eureka, Ill.; William Hinshaw, (7 W. 7 T.), of 800 East Chestnut street, Bloomington, Ill.; Levi Hinshaw, of Unionson, Ill.; Alonzo Hinshaw, of Wilson, Kan., and Mrs. Ellen Berry, of Nevada, Mo.

Cynthia Ann Elizabeth (Beeler) Hinshaw, first wife of Jehu Hinshaw, died June 9, 1857, and Jehu Hinshaw married secondly, Mary Ann Johnson, Jan. 25, 1858. Of his second marriage three children survive, viz: George Hinshaw, of St. Paul, Minn.; George W. Hinshaw, Ill., 2 1/2 S. Carlock, Ill.; and Mrs. Emma Beeny, of Nevada, Mo.

Mary Ann (Johnson) Hinshaw died April 17, 1884, and Jehu Hinshaw married thirdly, Margaret D. Stoddard, nee Smith, Oct. 30, 1890. No children were born of this marriage.

Jehu Hinshaw died at Eureka, Ill., Feb. 15, 1901, at 84 years, leaving his widow, Margaret (Stoddard) nee Smith, and a host of friends, relatives, and great-grandchildren to mourn their loss, but his name.

His remains are buried in West Woods cemetery, Kansas Township, Woodford County, Illinois.

GEORGE HINSHAW, JR.

GEORGE HINSHAW, JR., son of George Hinshaw, Sr., and Susannah (Johnson) Hinshaw, was born on a farm ten miles from the town of Monroe, the county seat of Madison County, Tennessee, Dec. 26, 1820. He came to this country ent's family to McLean County, Illinois, in the spring of the year 1827. He went to school during the famous "winter of the deep snow" (1830-'31), and spent his Saturdays in husking and shelling corn by hand, and pounding it into meal with a wooden mortar and pestle.

Mr. Hinshaw did his share of hunting wild animals, especially wolves, which were a common pest.

He had one trying experience when he was going to mill with an ox team and was overtaken by a prairie fire. He tried to drive his oxen through it, but they refused to face the flames and turned and ran away in spite of all his efforts. At last he saw a place where a part of the fire had gone faster than the rest, leaving a gap in his road. He succeeded in guiding his oxen into this gap, and finally got safely through.

The year 1844 was a very wet season. During that year, Mr. Hinshaw drove a herd of cattle from his farm to Milwaukee, Wis. He swam creeks and rivers of all kinds and sizes. He was delayed at the Kankakee fifteen days. He frequently drove his cattle into the river, but when they reached the swift current, they turned back to the shore from which they had started.

Finally one very tall ox touched the bottom of the stream, went across, and the rest followed. Mr. Hinshaw lived nearly all his life upon his farm in Section 8, McLean County, Township, McLean County, Illinois.

He married Polly M. Toliver, daughter of James and Elizabeth (Maxwell) Toliver, July 1, 1848. She was born Dec. 21, 1828. Ten children were born of this union, of whom four survive, viz: Ida M. CONCLUSION.

The Committee on History of the Hinshaw family wish to avail themselves of this opportunity of earnestly thanking each and every one who has furnished material or money for the publication of this book, or who have contributed in any other way to the success of the undertaking. In particular we desire to thank Mr. G. W. Hinshaw, of Winston, North Carolina, for material furnished, Mr. William Wade Hinshaw, Sr., of New York City, for valuable information and other assistance, and last, but by no means least, we desire to express our sincere appreciation of the successful labors of our fellow-member, Mr. William Hinshaw, of Bloomington, Ill., for having borne the principal share of the burden of correspondence and collection of material necessary for its compilation. We also wish to acknowledge the valuable advice and assistance of the late Rev. Joshua K. Starr, W. A. Hall, and our editor, Mr. Milo Custer. As no family history or genealogy can ever be made absolutely complete or absolutely free from errors, we venture to express the hope that our people will understand and appreciate the difficulties under which we have labored. We also hope and trust that future generations of our people will take up this work where we leave off, and continue and enlarge upon it for the benefit and instruction of themselves and their posterity.

And with this closing work we bequeath and dedicate this work as a memorial of our ancestors to their descendants.

THE COMMITTEE.
